OLD PEOPLE.

Several of the Connecticut papers relate instances of ongovity in their immediate neighborhood, from which it might be inferred that the climate of the state is as favorable to the duration of human life as any other. Hartford Watchman mentions that the Rev Joseph Vail, 85 years old, who has been the pastor of the Congrega-tional Church in Hadlyme, for 56 years, preached a lec-ture on the 4th of July, in the house of Mr John Bronson, of Wolcott, then in the 101st year of his age, 80 of which he has been a member of the church. This has called out the Norwalk Gazette which relates a story of an old gentleman of that place, enjoying excellent health and spirits, who recently celebrated his 90th birth-day by calling upon his old friends and contemporaries, among whom was a favored lady of only 96. He was accompanied by a youthful nephew of 92. The Norwalk paper adds that instances of similar longevity are numerous in that town and its vicinity, among whom is a lively, healthy and intelligent lady very near a hundred years old, still actually engaged in her household concerns.

The following is given as a sample of the recollections of the long lived people of Norwalk:—

"There are many here who will remember calling upon and going out to see Doct Franklin, as he passed through this town on his way to Boston; to sail on his first mission to France, to negociate a treaty with that country, upon the declaration of Independence here. Hes dress, appearance, conversation and doings, are all perfectly remembered. He travelled in a close carriage and four, with postillions on the near horses and a servant in the carriage. He was the advanced in years, his hair white, his face sunken and wrinkled. He wore a for cap, and the large round spectacles.' During his stay in this town he put up at the old house on the green, now occupied by Mr Porter, in front of which, at that time, was a large pond of water. It was a stormy, windy day, and the water rough and much agitated. Among other matters of amusement, the Doctor told his visitors he would go out and make that water still by waving his cane over it. He went out, and after flourishing his stick a few times over the windward side of the pond, the surface became perfectly

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1886.

Protestant Jesuitism, by a Protestant-New York. Harper & Brothers .- We do not know who is the author of this work, but we consider it a very just and wholesome satire upon the times. The design of the work is to show that Jesuitism is not confined to the Church of Rome -Jesuitism the author defines to be a deception practised upon the public, to gain an end professedly religious. It is a spirit confined to no age or country or religion. Wherever the priesthood of any religion, Christian or Pagan, have taken advantage of their spiritual influence, to serve themselves instead of the public, - there has been developed the proper spirit of Jesuitism. It has been used in Pagan religions still more than in Christianity. The Jesuitism of the Romish Church is only an accidental form, in which this spirit has been developed. It was the highest consummation of the system. The present history of our country presents the spectacle of religious and reforming associations as nearly conformed to the principles and plan of the original Jesuitism as the time and circumstances will permit-and all this among the Protestants and Protestant clergy. There is no probability that Catholic Jesuitism will attempt to re-emet those parts of its history in the same forms, which have been universally reprobated. It is by far too wise. Protestants may be assured that the Jesuits of the Papal Church will never be caught in any such folly; and while they are watched and pursued in that direction, they are really upon another tack. Her power bas been broken and she is aware of it, and she is now conforming to the character and demands of the age. The author hesitates not to say that such deeds as are said to have been transacted by the Catholic priests in Canada and the West Indies, by Maria Monk and Rosamond Culbertson, could not be done in this age, not even on the spot of the Papal territories of Italy. The evil of such publications is manifold. They not only injure the Protestant cause, but they help Popery and corrupt public morals. Their effect is precisely the same as that of MacDowall's publications formerly issued in New York. The taste for such publications, and the excitement produced by them, are the natural product of that false alarm, which Protestant Jesuitism has attempted to raise against the Jesuitism of Rome. Here is rogue chasing rogue-Jesuit in pursuit of Jesuit-but the older rogue is wiser because he has been longer in practice.

Jesuitism employs religion to gain the world. Its position affects to be relative to God; it is in fact relative to man. Its sanctions are spiritual; its designs political. One of the principal scheme of Protestant Jesuitism in this country is the Temperance Reformation. The arrogance, dictatorial airs, and tyranny assumed and practised by the Temperance Society over the public, and over individuals, are only one of the modes, in which a reforming empiricism has overrun the land. The society sat out with extravagant and incredible statements of fact; and has been obliged, in order to keep up the excitement and maintain its influence, to continue that course. The author has long since been prepared and resolved to go all lengths in the war of extermination against the common use of ardent spirits; and he still believes, conscientiously, that the good of society and of our race requires it; but a fanatical crusade against vice, supported by the sacrifice of truth, cannot be so salutary as a sober, but determined reformation, conducted on enlightened principles. The danger of alcoholic drinks does not arise from the fact that they are a poison in the common sense of the term, but simply from the consideration that the habitual use of them destroys, in many cases, one's moral control over himself. The whole system of the temperance reformation, as it is now conducted, is rather injurious than beneficial to society. It is upon a false basis, because it assumes that all alcoholic drinks, and in every degree, are injurious and unlawful. It is contrary to scripture and experience, and it is supported by sophistry and false theories. The system of pledges trusts nothing to the virtue, to the moral strength, to the self-respect, of the community; it leaves nobody to the keeping of his own conscience, or the use of his own judgment. The manner of obtaining these pledges is artful and compulsory. The demand is made under such circumstances, that but few can avoid yielding to it. They are literally dragged to the deed. Never was a system of tyranny better organised, or more efficiently executed.

A new doctrine has at length been added to the creed of Teetotalism which pronounces against flesh as an article of diet. There was a time when the authors thought that a system of diet, limited principally to milk and vegetables, might prove more beneficial to our physical and moral constitution. But the results of late experiments over the wide community, have made him wiser, and increased his respect for the customs of society in all ages. Having been visited with a form of dispepsy, and receiving some hints from these knowing ones, the author began to specuformance of several vocalists. It was, however, apparent late and philosophise on diet and drinks, till he had well nigh philosophised and speculated his mortal body into the grave. At last, being better advised, he began to eat what was set before him, asking no questions, and taking a proper amount of physical exercise, and to live as other TRAHAM & WILMARTH, Machinists, at the West Boston Foundry, foot of Vine st, Boston, will execute all orders for work in the line of building machinery, at short notice and in the best style—particular attention paid to Screws and Gear Cutting. Our professional men, particularly the clergy, the students of our colleges and higher sominaries, in vast numbers, are now being made the victims of this delusion, of this temperance quackery, on the most extensive scale. One can almost as certainly indicate a patient, who is pursuing this abstemious regimen, as one of the opposite extreme of bloated sottishness. The beamless eye, the colorless countenance, the languishing aspect, the general want of determination in purpose, and courage in action, are among the marks of this modern doctrine of total abstinence from meats as well as drinks. Common sense is entirely driven from the field; experience is worth nothing; and abstemiousness, both in meats and drinks, is the one universal solvent for all questions relating to all states of health. We have, in this country, at this moment, men and women, old and young, by scores and by thousands, who are daily falling victims before the prevalence of this theory. But we have no space to pursue the author's views

Thanksgiving .- This happiest of all New England holidays-the only one which approaches in character the Merry Christmas of Old England-has again come round, with its voice of heartfelt joy, made sacred and hallowed by the interchange of kindred congratulations and tokens of parental, brotherly, or sisterly affection. In its associations, and the general style of celebrating it. Thanksgiving is emphatically a peculiar festival; although general, throughout the East, it is yet private-confined to families, and not by united masses. The Fourth of July, on the other hand, may be said to be an out-door Jubilee-public and national in all its features. In whatever section of this vast country, the American citizen may happen to be on the Fourth, it is his nation's birth-day, and he is ever at home, wherever her Constitution is acknowledged and respected. All are brothers on that day. But it is natural -and the custom is also scriptual and universal-to set apart some day, when the members of families, separated by the ordinary circumstances of life, may meet together, and rejoice that they are again permitted so to meet. Hence we see those, who impelled by the energetic spirit of en-at the autumnal season turn their thoughts to the places of their nativity, and yielding to the impulses of early feelings and affections, retrace their steps, to receive the kindly greetings of their homestead. A more cheerful sight there is not, than to see, on the long expected day, these truants in pursuit of fortune and fame, wending their way through --- the pleasant fields traversed so oft.

In life's morning march, when their bosoms were young. Arrived here, and gathered around the family board, the people of this State have much to be indeed thankful for; the great blessings of civil and religious liberty; national independence, and unexampled national prosperity, and, in this region, general and profound peace. Throughout the year no event has happened within the State of public calamity, and the means of private happiness and comfort have steadily increased. The agriculturist, the mechanic, and the manufacturer, and indeed all engaged in the useful employments of mankind, have, with us, been able to reap a reasonable and just reward for their labors; a degree of happiness, which the most favored of other nations may not hope to obtain hardly for centuries. These are causes for thanksgiving which those who have visited other climes know how to estimate, and sincerely do we hope and believe, that all our citizens know how to appreciate them as blessings above all price.

The Courier of yesterday remarks-"If we remember aright there were ballots deposited in the boxes at Cambridge, of various colors, blue, red and yellow, bearing the name of Mr Parmenter at the late election." The Editor of the Courier is mistaken as to the facts in this case. There were colored ballots for State Representatives, but none for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Senators, Electors of President, or Representative to Congress.

Mror and Washington Mirror and the U.S. Telegraph have been united. This is something like Malibran and Beriot-they lived together for six or eight years, and then went through the marriage ceremony publicly, and had their union duly announced. The Mirror and Telegraph have been prostituted to the service of the whigs until after election, and now assume the garb of honest folks.

At the Tremont, " the Massacre, or The Malay's Revenge," continues to draw good houses. We are glad of it; for since the theatre has been in existence, no piece of equal splendor has been produced. Some portions of the dialogue, too, are exquisitly beautiful, particularly in the character of Amazilla, Almodad, Mattah and Zulah. Murdock's Crambee, by the way, is worthy of passing note, as a piece of acting. We ought to mention, too, that the Conflagration scene, has even been improved since the representation on Monday night.

The Lion Theatre. - There is to be a splendid circus exhibition, at this establishment, this afternoon, designed for the accommodation of those who have not had an opportunity of visiting the theatre in the evening. It will consist of the gratest feats of horsemanship, strength, agility and balancing. By devising this extra entertainment, Mr Welch has contributed greatly to the means of enjoying the day by the younger portion of the community. It is precisely the kind of public amusement, which they may witness without let or hindrance, on the score of its character and tendency. In the evening both equestrian and dramatic exhibitions will take place as usual.

SAMUEL Y. ATWELL, GEORGE CURTIS, THOMAS W. DORR,
Providence, Oct. 1, 1836 MTSmis 03

Of Lectures on the PHILOSOPHY OF MODERN HISTORY. The subjects to be treated are, the foundations of Religion, Politics, Literature, Science, and Art, in the nature of things; the action of general causes upon them at the present day; the present condition and tendencies of these elements of Civilization; the popular Sciences and Men of general subject;) and the intellectual duties of the existing general subject;) and the intellectual duties of the existing generation.

The course will consist of at least twelve Lectures, to commence on the 2nd Thursday of December, and to be given every Thursday evening, at the Masonic Temple. Tickets, two dollars each, at HILLIARD, GRAY & CO'S. Bookstore.

NEW YORK OYSTERS. - PARKER & WHITNEY respectfully inform their patrons and the public, that they are now in the regular receipt, at the Tremont Restorateur under Tudor's building, and opposite the new Court House, of the long celebrated New York Oysters, which will be served up to customers, in the shell, roasted, stewed or fried, at the shortest notice. Orders to supply families with them, will also be promptly attended to.

M&T also be promptly attended to.

B. F. FOSTER respectfully informs the public that his Commercial School is sgain removed to its Old Stand, where he will centinue to give lessons as usual in Penmanship, Book Keeping and Arithmetic.

B. F. F's object is to render this establishment permanent, not by the now current method of—so much per square editorial puffs. &c. &c. but rather that it should be based upon and owe its success to its own solid and intrinsic good qualities.— With this end in view he will be, if possible, stimulated to still greater exertion in the discharge of his duties, so as to render his school more and more deserving of public patronage.

FOSTER'S PRACTICAL PENMANSHIP, Is so simple and effective as to eradicate the most confirmed scrawl, and to substitute in its place a neat, rapid style of writing. From twenty to thirty lessons will, in most cases, be found sufficient, where the pupil has already some command of pen; yet no definite time is fixed, and the learner is entitled to a seat in the school until satisfied with his improvement.

BOOK-KEEPING, BY SINGLE AND DOUBLE ENTRY is taught in a practical manner—the learner opens, posts and balances two complete sets of books, in which are combined all transactions which can possibly occur in the ordinary course of business.

Each pupil is taught individually, and not by general explanations which one out of ten might perhaps comprehend at the expense of the other nine.

This is perhaps the only school in the city where the teacher combines in himself long practice in the counting house, joined to a close and applied study in the theory of this almost indispensable art. The decided advantages, therefore, which a practical Book-keeper has in teaching, over the mere theorist—who draws all his inferences from School Books alone rist—who draws all his inferences from School Books alone—must be obvious to all.

In ARITHMETIC he will continue himself (unless by request) to the most essential rules, and to those calculations which are of daily recurrence in affairs of business.

The New England Crown Glass being purer in color than any other Glass, is preferable for Stores, as it does not tinge the rays of light as they pass through it, and therefore white goods particularly appear to advantage; and it is peculiarly useful for Factories, as some minutes of light may be gained morning and evening, in consequence of the absence of color in this glass. The price of second quality is reduced from the rates heretofore asked.

Those who wish to contract for this Glass are requested to specify New England Crown Glass. A N account of that most excellent Medicine prepared at

Dr Loveman's Gilead House. Price 50 cents per bottle. old by appointment in Boston, at D. S. ROWLAND'S, 188 Washington street, Bos on. "To administer to a mind diseased, pluck from the Memory

Raze out the written troubles of the Brain, and with some sweet oblivious Antidote, "Cleanse the foul Bosom of that perilous stuff which weighs upon the Heart."

Dr. LOVEMAN'S Balm of Gilead is universally acknowledged to be peculiarly efficacions in all inward wastings, loss of appetite, indigestion, depression of spirits, trembling or shaking of the hands or limbs, shortness of breath, and consumpting behind I. shaking of the hands or limbs, shortness of breath, and con-sumptive habits. It thins the blood, eases the most violent pain in the head and stomach, and promotes gentle perspira-tion. By the Medical Faculty this medicine is much admired being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the fi-bres of the stomach, and giving that proper tensity which a being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the fibres of the stomach, and giving that proper tensity which a good digestion requires.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead is recommended to the weak, the relaxed, and debilitated, as an agreeable and speedy restorative; and considered as a cordial, is essential to the comfort of ladies of fashion, being a preventive against cold, when taken before going out to parties, balls, routs or the play. It will enliven the spirits and invigorate the mind and body, and if taken after fatigue, it will with a few hours sleep, take away all languor consequent on broken rest, and give relief from every unpleasant sensation.

It is a most valuable remedy for such diseases as are attended with the following symptoms, namely—a great straitness of the breast, with difficulty of breathing—violent palpitations of the heart, sudden flasces of heat in various parts of the body—at other times a sense of cold, as if water was poured on them—flying pains in the arms and limbs, back and belly, resembling those occasioned by the gravel—the pulse very variable, sometimes uncommonly slow, at other times very quick—yawning, the hiccough, frequent sighing, and a sense of suffication, as from a ball or lump in the thront—alternate fits of crying and convulsive laughing—the sleep unsound, and seldom refreshing, and the patient often troubled with horrid dreams. Much has been said by interested individuals against Medicines that are advertised, but there is a very important observation to be made respecting Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead, that unless its operation was gentle, safe and efficacious, it could not have obtained the unexampled demand it has acquired. safe and efficacious, it could not have obtained the unexampled demand it has acquired.

NERVOUS DEBILITY. "Without Health we can enjoy no Fortune; Honors, Riches, and all other advontages are useless."

This Cordial has been uncommonly successful with young This Cordial has been uncommonly successful with young people who have the appearance and air of old age, who are pale, effeminate, benumbed, stupid, and even imbecile; whose bodies are become bent, whose legs are no longer able to carry them, who have an utter distaste for every thing, and are totally incapacitated. Where the stomach is frequently disordered, the body is weakened; paleness, bodily decay and emaciation succeed, and the eyes sink into the head. The virtues of Dr Loveman's Balm of Gileadere demonstrated, in oradicating the worst and most dangerous symptoms of nervous debility, and nothing has tended so much to establish the fame of this medicine, as its certain success in those complaints vons desirity, and nothing has tended so much to establish the fame of this medicine, as its certain success in those complaints which strike their roots so deep in the constitution, and are so fatal to the happiness of mankind.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead has risen in repute with eve.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead has risen in repute with every triat of its efficacy. Some, perhaps, unacquainted with its virtues, not having perused the Guide to Heslth, may be induced to ask what is the Balm of Gilead good for? What complaint doth it cure?—To answer this it will be necessary to "Hold the Mirror up to Nature."

Let those who are afflicted in the following manner reflect on the cause that produced such havoc upon the "wholesome appetites and powers of life:"—disordered stomach, dry cough, weakness in the voice hoarseness, shortness of breath upon the least exercise, and relaxation of the whole system. Those afflicted with paleness, languor of the eyes, weakness of sight or memory, should take time to consider Linnæus's advice, that "youth is the important period for forming a robust constitution," and that "nothing is to be dreaded so much as premature excess." The foundation of a happy old age is a good constitution in youth; temperance and moderation at good constitution in youth; temperance and moderation at that age are passports to hagpy grey hairs.

For such as have violated these precepts, then, this healing balm is suitable—complaints included in the vague appellation of Nervous and Consumptive, are those for which it is peculiarly adapted.

In offering this medicine to the public, I can say with confidence that they will find great benefit by using it in all diseases recommended, as I am fully acquainted with the medical qualities, as they have been discovered by myself, and are extracted from vegetables, and I can truly say, there is no earthly danger in using the medicine by any person, no matter how they may be afficted. This medicine has been used by a large number of persons, and have been cured of diseases of a ruly say, there is no earthlong standing, when all other medicines have failed. n23
